Elissa Nolan is a community health educator with over 20 years experience working with not-for-profit organizations, local school districts and state government agencies, specifically in the area of coordinated school health. Ms. Nolan is the School Health Coordinator for the Steps to a HealthierNY program and the State liaison between the Departments of Health and Education for the Steps initiative. As School Health Coordinator, she provides technical assistance and advice to New York State Steps communities in implementing school-based system interventions that will lead to practice and policy changes related to physical activity, nutrition, asthma, and tobacco use prevention.